

Craig Simonetti is a singer, beatboxer, and teacher specializing in a cappella and vocal music. With performances spanning the globe, including countries like Vietnam, Kazakhstan, Canada, and various locations across the USA, Craig's talents have captivated audiences worldwide. His beatboxing skills have earned him national and international titles, establishing him as a leading figure in the beatboxing community.

Armed with a Master's degree in Vocal Pedagogy from The Boston Conservatory at Berklee, Craig brings a wealth of knowledge and expertise to his craft. He has shared his passion as a voice teacher at Berklee College of Music, guiding and inspiring aspiring vocalists. Combining his beatboxing skills developed through competition with his vocal flexibility cultivated over years of training, Craig's music represents a fusion of styles that pushes the boundaries of vocal performance.

Craig's full-time touring a cappella group, Backtrack Vocals, serves as a platform for his talents as both a beatboxer and the group's music director. Together with his talented colleagues, they deliver engaging and entertaining performances that showcase the power and versatility of vocal music. Craig's captivating solo work further demonstrates his extraordinary talent and creativity, revealing the boundless possibilities of the human voice in a cappella and beatboxing.