

Kate Victor is a dynamic vocalist based in Brooklyn, New York. Hailing from a musical family in Connecticut, Kate grew up singing musical theatre, choral music, and gospel music in church, eventually leading her to complete a degree in Vocal Jazz at William Paterson University under the direction of Mulgrew Miller. A skilled multi-instrumentalist, Kate is embedded in the heart of the Brooklyn music scene, where she not only performs her own music but collaborates with various New York artists and bands, including Adam Bonomo, Adam Travis and the Soul, Katie Martucci, Pink Flamingo Rhythm Revue, and Tatev Yeghiazaryan, enriching each musical endeavor with her unique touch. In 2022, Kate's talent garnered recognition as she clinched the fifth-place victory at the American Traditions Vocal Competition, and was named that year's recipient of the esteemed Johnny Mercer Award.
